WHY CLERMONT-FERRAND?

City of Clermont-Ferrand

Clermont-Ferrand is a city located in the centre of France. It is the capital of the Puy-de-Dôme department and is the historic city of Auvergne.

The city of Clermont-Ferrand remains on a human-scale. Distances are short and most key places are within easy walking distance. The cost of living remains inexpensive in comparison with other large student cities in France and Europe and the monthly budget is estimated at between 600 € and 800 €, depending on your lifestyle. You will enjoy the city's friendly atmosphere and the vibrant student life generated by the presence of 42,000 students.

(source : www.letudiant.fr/classements/classement-des-villes-etudiantes/laureat/clermont-ferrand.html)

To the West, Clermont-Ferrand is overlooked by a granitic plateau (800 m on average) on which is the Chaîne des Puys, the largest chain of volcanoes in Europe. North of the agglomeration lies the fertile plain of the Limagne bathed by the Allier, the second cereal plain of France, rich of its volcanic residues accumulated over 400 000 years.

Clermont International Short Film Festival

The Festival du Court Métrage is organized annually in Clermont-Ferrand around the start of the year. It is the largest festival in the world for short films, and the second largest in France for films in general (just behind the well known festival in Cannes). If you are around at this time of year, then do not miss it. Between 4.50 - 40 euros you can watch one or multiple short films in different cinemas all over the town.

Music, concerts and festivals

The Coopérative de Mai (for short “la Coopé”) is the music stage of Clermont-Ferrand. There are about 130 concerts a year by varied artists.

 www.lacoope.org

Europavox is an annual music festival that takes place each summer in Clermont-Ferrand. It promotes a diverse range of music from all over Europe. The music genres that typically appear are Pop, Rock, Variété, Hip-Hop, Rap, Electro, Dance, Reggae, Folk, World, etc.

Clermont Rugby Culture

Rugby is for many people in Clermont-Ferrand a real culture. It comes as no surprise that they typically finish high in the top 14 league. They were national champions in 2010 and 2017.

Even if you're not a rugby fanatic, it is very much worth going to a rugby match at the Michelin Stadium. Just so you know who to cheer for in the stadium: ASM is the name of the rugby club in Clermont-Ferrand. You can find tickets and information on their website.

 www.asm-rugby.com

Cheese and Wine

Clermont-Ferrand and its surrounding region are well known for their unique types of cheese, such as Saint-Nectaire and Fourme d'Ambert. Saint-Nectaire is a young type of cheese with a soft taste and Fourme d'Ambert is a blue cheese that tastes so great it might even change your opinion about blue cheese in general!

Then there is also the unique wines of the region. Clermont-Ferrand used to be one of the largest wine producers in all of France at the start of the last century. Even though much has changed since then, the quality of the Clermont wines prevails.

Discover the Auvergne

Clermont-Ferrand is surrounded by the largest natural park in France, the Auvergne Regional Park of Volcanoes. This area of outstanding natural beauty with its extinct volcanoes, lakes, rivers and forests is within a 15-minute drive from the city's old historic centre and offers an extensive choice of outdoor sports activities for enthusiasts.

UNIVERSITY CLERMONT AUVERGNE

History of the University

In the 12th century-time of the rise of knight-hood- the first Université d' Auvergne was founded in the town of Billom. In its heyday, the University numbered around 2000 students. They were taught civil law, canon law, humanities, and theology. It closed down at the end of the 15th century due to a lack of students and resources.

A few decades later, in 1518, Thomas Duprat, bishop of Clermont, patron of arts and sciences created a University in his hometown: Issoire. In the light of Charles de Bourdon's and the University of Paris' protests, François the 1st proceeded to have it closed in 1520.

In 1681, Louis XIV, the "Sun King", authorized the creation of a medical college in Clermont-Ferrand. In 1806, Napoleon Bonaparte officially established a medical school at Hotel Dieu. Subsequently, the College of Literature was established in 1810. It taught Philosophy, Latin literature, Eloquence, French poetry and Greek grammar.

In 1815, with the return of the monarchy, the faculty of Clermont was closed.

In 1854, under the second empire, the College of Liberal Arts reopened. This reopening was accompanied by the establishment of the College of Science, and then in 1864 a "University Palace" was built. In 1896, these colleges were merged into one university.

At the beginning of the twentieth century, the university continued to grow and gradually opened up to young women. In 1908 they already represented a quarter of the students of the Faculty of Literature.

After WW2 the University expanded in the city centre and slowly spread to the Cézeaux area. The events of May '68 and the enforcement of the Faure act on the universities revealed high political tensions related to different perceptions on the University management.

The crisis accelerated up until the beginning of the 70's and culminated on March 16th, 1975 in the partition of the University into two establishments: Université Blaise Pascal and Université d'Auvergne.

For a number of years the two Universities maintained very little relationships but then they gradually started working together again, got closer and then merged on January 1st, 2017 to create the Université Clermont Auvergne.

The University has expanded by integrating :

- Since January 1,2021 an INP (Institut National Polytechnique) bringing together three engineering schools (SIGMA, POLYTECH and ISIMA).
- Since January 1, 2024 the Clermont-Ferrand National Higher School of Architecture (ENSACF)

Good to know if you want to rent a private room/flat in France

Deposit

A security deposit is an amount of money that is given temporarily as security against loss of or damage.

This may be required during check-in. This can't be more than one month worth of rent and has to be written in the lease.

Locative insurance certification

Before the signature do not forget to get a proof of locative insurance. In case of absence of this document, the owner is allowed to cancel your lease agreement.

Guarantor

It is sometimes necessary to have a guarantor if you rent a room in France. A guarantor is the person or the organization (your bank for instance) who/which commit itself to the owner in paying the renting debts of the tenant.

You can have access to the VISALE guarantee which is a no-cost solution to the problem of student security deposits. With VISALE, students find housing more quickly and property owners are assured that rent will be paid.

Flat sharing

Interest

Living with roommates allows you to live in a larger accommodation while paying less. (Roommates have to fairly share services charges and rent). It's often quite difficult to live alone in a whole new city or country.

Thus living with roommates enables you to make friends and helps you to face the troubles of everyday life.

But living together can't only be reduced to funny moments as flat-sharing implies sharing the space, chores, and expenses and adapting yourself to your roommates' own habits.

Thus it's quite useful and necessary to establish rules as soon as you move in, in order to live in a "peaceful cohabitation".

How does it work?

Either there are several rental contracts (that is to say as many lease agreements as roommates). In that case every roommate has to individually sign a contract with the owner. This gives an exclusive enjoyment of certain rooms of the flat and a common access to kitchen or sanitation.

Or there is only one rental contract signed by all the roommates. In this case the owner let the roommates organise themselves in regards to the sharing of the rented space.

The flat-sharing lease agreement may include a solidarity clause binding the roommates. This clause entails that every roommate is responsible for the whole lease agreement' obligations (for instance the owner could ask to single roommate for the whole rent). Thus if one of the flat-sharers doesn't pay its part of the rent, the owner is allowed to claim this sum from the other roommates.

Be careful: If your lease agreement included a solidarity clause, in case of the departure of a flat-sharer, he or she can still be held accountable for the rent until the end of the lease agreement.

Housing Aid (CAF, APL)

The Family Allowance Fund (CAF) offers housing assistance. Financial aid only starts from the second month of rent. To benefit from CAF you must complete an application on the CAF website. You will also need to provide an excerpt from your birth certificate translated into French. The translation must be provided by an approved translating agency.

The APL (aide au logement) is a financial support for accommodation. For more information, visit the CAF's website:

 www.caf.fr

Before beginning your application you absolutely need to have the following documents in your possession:

- your tax return or tax assessment
- your lease agreement
- a rent receipt or a rent certificate
- your bank account details (RIB)

Be careful: You can't change this information once it is validated.

If you need assistance with the application, the Espace Accueil Etudiant is here to help you :

Learning agreement and European credits transfer system(ECTS)

A learning agreement (L.A) for each semester is required for all incoming exchange students. It is a formal agreement between the student, the home university and the host university. All the courses that the student wishes to follow have to be written in the L.A.

The European Credit Transfer and Accumulation System (ECTS) is a standard for comparing the study attainment and performance of students of higher education across the European Union and other collaborating European countries. For successfully completed studies, ECTS credits are awarded. One academic year corresponds to 60 ECTS (30 ECTS per semester). Please note that ECTS credits won't be awarded if the student doesn't attend the class and does not undertake the assessments.

 www.uca.fr/en/come-to-uca/students/study-at-uca-as-an-exchange-student/learning-agreement

Classes, exams and resits

Exchange students may take courses only in fields which have been included in the agreement of cooperation with their home university.

The list of courses provided by the pedagogical contact in each school or faculty. They will be able to advise foreign student on which courses are most suitable for them. During the first weeks in Clermont-Ferrand, students have to choose their courses and complete their Learning Agreement in accordance with the requirements of their home institution.

Exams

A student who follows a course is required to take the corresponding exam. The courses chosen can be changed during the first weeks (if courses turn out to be different from the student's expectations or if there is a problem with the agenda during the academic year). If there is any change in the courses taken, the student will have to change his learning agreement and have it signed by both home and host universities. This document has to be signed by each party during the exchange period so that a Transcript of Records may be delivered at the end of the program (ToR).

Resits

For students whose grade is under 10/20, a resit exam may be organised at his or her request. The new grade will replace the old one if it is better. If the student misses the exam he or she will not be permitted to take the resist unless he or she provides a doctor's certificate or has a very good reason for missing the exam.

Transcript of records and UCA grading system

The transcript of records will be directly transferred by your contact in the school or faculty within 5 weeks after the publication of the results. The grading system at UCA is out of 20 points.

How to open a bank account?

Why do you need to open a French bank account?

If you plan to stay in France for more than three months, it's highly recommended to open a bank account in a French bank. Indeed, many organisations such as the CAF or the French Health insurance (Sécurité Sociale) only grant you money via bank transfers. Furthermore, opening a bank account allows you to get a cheque book or/and a debit card.

Opening conditions

In order to open a bank account it is imperative that you supply the following documents:

- A valid identity card or a passport
- A residence permit or a receipt (except for European students)
- A proof of domicile (electricity bill, a receipt for rent payment, proof of residence)

How to find a bank?

Before following any procedures, inquire at your main bank in your home country if they have a partnership with a French bank which would simplify your arrangements. If it's not the case, be careful to compare the differences between various banks. Indeed some of them offer preferential rates to students (half price services, loyalty points). Once you've made your choice, contact the bank and make sure to deposit the minimum required in your new bank account. You generally get your cheque book and debit card a few days after the opening of your account.

French characteristics

The debit card is not free (you have to pay between 60€ and 120€ per year). Cheque books are often free but some banks can make you pay for it. Cheques are sometimes necessary to pay your rent, bills, deposit etc. Make sure to always keep another means of payment on you.

How to find a job?

Legislation and principles

Foreign students are allowed to find paid employment regarding their visa. Make sure your visa permits you to work while in France, by contacting the préfecture.

The contract of employment between the student and the employer must be in writing and must be signed at the latest on the first day of work.

Student jobs

You can go directly to organisations that specialise in student job offers such as.
